

SEYMOUR SEGNIT

Cool British Charm for a Change...

Seymour Segnit is one of the elite few professional speakers who do more than just speak...

A master of the most powerful accelerated learning techniques in the world, Seymour catalyzes immediate, profound, and lasting changes in his audiences and brings high-octane entertainment to every presentation, whether he's helping a sales force hit their targets or an audience of business professionals become personally magnetic!

Seymour has helped everyone from celebrities to Olympic athletes conquer self-imposed emotional and psychological barriers to their success, clear the past, and create a future customized to their wants and dreams. He has accomplished this using Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) and Time-Line Therapy™ – two state-of-the-art techniques that make it possible to override negative emotions, thoughts, habits, or behaviors (such as fear or low self-esteem) and replace them with positive, powerful new ones that can be “triggered” any time, any place, almost instantly. In a live, interactive setting Seymour teaches his techniques to your audience, and in less than an hour, transforms their lives and their success forever.

Bring the awesome power of instant change to your organization. Book Seymour to speak at your next event!

Oxford-educated Seymour Segnit started his career as an advertising account exec at Ogilvy & Mather London and later became a DJ on some of Europe's largest radio stations. Today he serves as President of CTRN: Change That's Right Now, Inc., an organization that helps people erase negative feelings about the past and create a compelling future. He has appeared on NBC, CN8, and numerous radio shows across the country.

At Unplugged we have always had an international reputation as a top event producer for major corporations – voted by AMI as one of the top three most creative companies in our field.

Over the years I have worked closely with Seymour on countless events, including major launches for companies like Virgin Atlantic Airlines and Coca-Cola.

Here's what you need to know about Seymour:
He really Gets it.

He's a hugely original thinker who constantly challenges audiences (and to be honest event organizers as well!) to be the best that they can do – and facilitates change in the most entertaining and educational way.

With Virgin, he created the finest pitch I've seen in twenty years as a creative director on large-scale international projects. Richard Branson described the event as the finest work he'd seen of its kind for Virgin.

The bottom line? Whatever Seymour's charging you, it isn't enough.

Free your mind and Success will follow!

Seymour doesn't speak – he performs. His presentations are live, action-packed events that take audiences step-by-step through the highly enjoyable process of creating profound, instant change in their lives! All of his programs are customized – here are just a few of the topics he can address.

Double Your Net Worth!

Do you ever wonder why some people have the Midas Touch when it comes to making money? It has nothing to do with your education and everything to do with your mental and emotional capacity for wealth. Using the most powerful goal-setting techniques in the world, Seymour can teach your audiences how to set and achieve higher financial objectives for themselves and unleash the sales machine inside!

Create a “Perfect 10” Life!

If you had to rate your level of health and happiness on a scale of 1-10, where would it be? A fine “5” or a terrific “10”? Seymour has helped thousands of people in as many as 192 countries master techniques they can use to initiate massive change at any time. He offers fun but intense “break out” workshops that help audiences lose weight, conquer fears and phobias, manage stress, and yes, even get over their ex-lovers!

Become a Magnet for People and Power!

Have you ever met a human magnet – a friend, coworker, or inspiring leader who had the power to pull rooms of people into their web of influence? Seymour can teach your audiences techniques they can use to create instant rapport with anyone, whether they are networking, interviewing, speaking, or leading a team. TV anchors and celebrities have used these very same techniques to take their careers and personal relationships to the next level!
